

SECTION 1 CULTURE

1.3 Shanghai's Rapid Growth

Use with East Asia Today,
Section 1.3, in your textbook.

P. 398-399

Reading and Note-Taking Take Notes

Use the Section Map below as you read Section 1.3 to answer questions and take notes about Shanghai's growth over the past few decades.

What is the title of the section?

Shanghai's Rapid Growth

What is the Main Idea?

What is the "Factors Fueling Growth" passage about?

What is the "Building and Population Boom" passage about?

What does the photograph show?

★ Make Predictions Do you expect that Shanghai's population will continue increasing in the coming decades? Why or why not?

p. 406-407

1. According to the pie chart, how much of China's GDP is supplied by agriculture?
2. Since 40% of the Chinese people work in agriculture, what conclusions can you make about their earnings?
3. Study the bar graph and compare China's GDP with that of India. What do these numbers suggest about the relative rate of each country's GDP growth?
4. Based on what you have read, why are Chinese-made consumer goods sold at low prices in countries such as the United States?